

REVIEW

A book review has several purposes. It gives readers an idea of what the book is about and an opinion of the book. It also explains why the book may or may not be good to read.

Read the following book review.

Reviewers choose language which suits what they are reviewing. This reviewer has used words which

- describe the type of book it is e.g. combines adventure with science fiction, modern detective story
- appeal to people who will want to read the book e.g. digital character, imagine themselves as Henry or Grace
- refer to similar books e.g. Cam Jansen-meets-Minecraft.

WRITING TASK

Write a book review that could be published on your school's website.

You can review any kind of book such as a picture book, a novel or a non-fiction (information) book. The book does not have to be real.

- Tell readers what type of book it is and who might enjoy it.
- Briefly describe what the book is about and your feelings about it.
- Provide a recommendation about whether the book is worth reading. Give reasons for your opinion.
