ARGUMENT

The purpose of an argument is to convince other people to agree with you. A good argument uses reasons supported by evidence. If your reasons are clear and make sense, the audience feels that they have to agree with your opinion.

WRITING TASK

You have been invited to participate in a national writing competition. You have to write an argument based on the following topic:

Would you rather be rich or lucky or intelligent?

In your planning, think about the following questions:

- Which ONE characteristic will you choose?
- What reasons can you use to support your choice?
- How will you organise your reasons to present a strong argument?

HINTS

- Use the planning time to organise your ideas in the planning space provided.
- Stay on the topic: Would you rather be rich or lucky or intelligent? Clearly argue for ONE characteristic only.
- Organise your reasons to present a strong argument.
- Begin with an introduction that clearly shows your point of view. Finish with a conclusion that sums up your reasons and emphasises your opinion.
- Use different types of sentences to make your argument interesting.
- Make sure you use correct grammar, spelling and punctuation.
- Write only on the lines provided. Additional writing may not be marked.
- Use the time at the end of the task to check and improve your writing.
